Essential Evidence Plus* Offers Enhanced Search Capabilities to Pinpoint Medical Evidence

Wiley-Blackwell is pleased to announce new, enhanced search capabilities for Essential Evidence Plus. The new search engine makes it easier for clinicians to quickly search the medical evidence and utilize clinical support tools at the point-of-care. Users may now take advantage of search term suggestions based on indexed terms and their own previous searches as well as optional advanced search features such as Boolean operators. In addition, users will find frequently searched terms and phrases accessible from the homepage.

“Essential Evidence Plus is designed for practicing physicians who don’t have time to spare,” stated Mark Ebell, MD, MS, and Editor-in-Chief of Essential Evidence Plus. “Our new search engine enables rapid access to information within real time clinical workflows. Moreover, all content is instantly accessible via web, Pocket PC, and Palm® OS so answers are available exactly when and where they are needed.”

Essential Evidence Plus offers medical evidence covering a broad array of diseases and disorders. It is designed to enable clinicians in both general and specialized practices to quickly find answers to important questions at the point of care. The database includes: Practice Guidelines, Decisions Support Tools, History and Physical Exam Calculators, Diagnostic Test Calculators, the Derm Expert, ICD9 Lookup Tool, Patient Education Handouts, Evidence-Graded Summaries of Recent Research (POEMs), Cochrane Systematic Reviews, and 950+ high quality photographs; and much more.

Essential Evidence Plus also offers Daily POEMs Email Alerts, reporting the latest medical findings pre-screened for validity and relevance to clinical practice. All of this content is accessible via one website, featuring an intuitive, state-of-the-technology search-and-navigation system that delivers on-point medical evidence in an instant.
